

AMERICAN MIDWIFERY CERTIFICATION
2013 Annual Report

The mission of the American Midwifery Certification Board (AMCB) is to protect and serve the public by leading the certification standards in midwifery. AMCB fulfills its mission through three primary activities: a national examination for initial certification as a nurse-midwife (CNM) or midwife (CM), a re-certification program for CNMs or CMs to assist certificants to fulfill their professional responsibilities to maintain competence, and through professional discipline.

AMCB has evaluated the fee structure decreases it established in 2012 and has determined that there has been no impact on its financial stability. AMCB will continue to minimize financial burden to certificants whenever possible.

Since the move to all time-limited certificates, a small portion of the certificant pool continues to retire. AMCB anticipates the recertification pool to grow as the number of new certificants increases and the proportion of retired CNMs to decrease or level off.

Year of Recertification	# Of Certificants Eligible to Recertify	% Recertified	# Chose to be put in Retirement Category
2006	551	93%
2007	495	93.7%

2012	2748	77.4%	115 (4.2%)
2013	2063	64.3%	100 (4.8%)

*Beginning in 2011 all certificants were required to begin recertifying. Before this, anyone certified prior to 1996 did not have to meet recertification requirements.

The national certification exam (NCE) has now been administered via computer-based testing (CBT) for 8 years. In collaboration with AMCB’s testing partner, Applied Measurement Professionals (AMP), the NCE continues to be available 52 weeks of the year, 5 days each week and at least one Saturday per month, at 170 sites serving all 50 states of the U.S. Candidates for certification are able to take the examination at their convenience at any of AMP’s testing sites as soon as their application is approved. Candidates receive official pass/fail results at the conclusion of their examination. AMCB issues wallet-sized certification cards in addition to certificates for ease in documenting current certification.

The number of newly certified CNMs and CMs increased over 2012 by 3.4 percent, and is 5 percent greater than in 2000 (Table 2). The overall pass rate on the NCE for first-time candidates in 2013 was 89%, which is consistent with previous years.

Over the past two years, AMCB participated in meetings with the US Midwifery Education, Regulation, and Association (US MERA) workgroup. This workgroup had two productive facilitated meetings to continue discussions on how to expand access to high quality midwifery care and physiologic birth for all women in all birth settings in the United States in alignment with global standards of the International Confederation of Midwives (ICM). Along with AMCB, the group included leaders from ACNM, the ACME, the Midwifery Education Accreditation Council (MEAC), Midwives Alliance of North America (MANA), National Association of Certified Professional Midwives (NACPM), and North American Registry of Midwives (NARM). These meetings have led to the potential for collaborative efforts between CNM/CM organizations and CPM organizations. AMCB will continue to support these efforts.
